INSPIRATION CAN COME FROM ANYWHERE
ANY TIME

They do exist, no longer as a single major movement but in the form of varied styles with individuality as their principal feature. Consumers are able to filter their own private blend out of this plethora of parallel styles. The requirement to follow devotedly a certain trend is a thing of the past, and people are now creating their own personal environment in a collage of styles. Anything goes these days. The internet in turn is contributing to a growing repertoire of possible means of furnishing, leading to a mingling of opposites such as old and new, sensible and outrageous in a contemporary look. Thanks to the sheer diversity of furniture offerings, no home need resemble any other. An individualistic style as singular and unique as a fingerprint is the result. With all restrictions gone, home are becoming places where individuality finds room to unfold.
